CORONATION OF KING COOK AT THE UNION

Final Rehearsal Was Held at Union Last Night

MAGNIFICENT SPECTACLE
Meds. '22 and '23, With King
Cook, Will Parade from Union at 7.40 P.M.

King Cook in all his glory awaits this evening, when he once more will be crowned with all the pomp and splendour of former years. Everything is ready for the function.

Last night a full dress rehearsal was held, and a few chance visitors claimed it had all previous celebrations beaten to a frazzle.

The order of the procession will be as follows:

1. The Royal Guard.
2. Cook III King.
3. His Trusty Henchmen.
4. Class of Medicine '22.
5. Class of Medicine '23.

The men of
Med. '23 will parade in dissecting coats.
Men of the first two years of Medicine will line up in front of the Union at 7.40 p.m. Parade will move off at 8.00 p.m. promptly. The route will be along Sherbrooke Street to Union Avenue, down Union Avenue to St.
Catherine Street, along St. Catherine Street to Peel Street, up Peel Street to Sherbrooke Street, and along Sherbrooke to the Union.

Torches, Roman candles and red lights will be distributed freely to all men taking part, and all undergraduates should get out and cheer this merry crew on its mournful journey.
We are back to the piping days of peace, and this King Cook celebration is to be run on the pre-war system.
Lots of fun and lots of pep! Every man who hasn't bought his ticket should get a wiggle on and get down to the Union and buy his ticket this morning.

The ceremony will commence at 9.00 p.m., and it is claimed that Harry Lauder, having been present at last night's rehearsal, turned green with envy. It's going to be some show!
There will be two hours' fun, not a moment wasted. Songs, jokes speeches and satire, dancing and—well—everything has its own little notch.
The costumes are the most elaborate that can be obtained, the music is being looked after by the Mandolin Club and others. It is expected that the best known humorist of Montreal (I am not permitted to mention his name) will be on hand to delight the audience, as he has already done on so many occasions, from Paris to San Francisco.

ELECTION TO-DAY FOR THE STUDENTS' COUNCIL

Representatives from Arts and Law to Be Elected

To-day, the election for Arts and Law Representatives on the Students' Council takes place. For Arts Representatives, the following have been nominated:

- J. N. PETERSEN, Arts '20.
N. E. PETERSON, Arts '20.

For Law, the following are the candidates:

- G. M. PENDER, Law '20.
D. SCHVEMAR, Law '20.

The election will take place at the Union, between the hours of 9.00 a.m. and 5.00 p.m. It is important that the students should manifest their interest. The nominations have been before them for some days, and thus an opportunity has been given of looking up the records of the men who are the candidates.

ARTS '22 DEBATE.

Arts '22 will hold a debate on Wednesday next, at 12.00 o'clock, in the Latin room. The resolution, That final examinations ought to be abolished, will be upheld by Messrs. Werry and G. Webster, and the negative will be argued by Messrs. Gaboury and Hayes.
This will be the second debate held by Arts '22, and promises to be as successful as the first one, which was held not long ago. The plan followed is that each speaker is given five minutes to present his arguments, and, in addition, the leader of the affirmative has three minutes for rebuttal. This plan leaves ample time for the judge's remarks and for discussion, which goes a long way towards making a debate of this character interesting.

R.V.C., and Miss Cartwright, Physical Director, R.V.C.

The first course in physical education given in 1912 was a short summer course. The next year classes were held on three afternoons a week for two-hour periods at the R.V.C. On the outbreak of war, a session's course (7 months) in massage and remedial gymnastics was organized to meet the demand for masseuses, who,
it was foreseen, would be needed to treat wounded returned soldiers. In 1916, the M.A.A.A. provided limited accommodation for practical work in the morning. For the past three years both the educational and massage courses have demanded the full time of the students, as classes are held all day. In 1918, the clerical work of the school increased so much that a half-time secretary, Miss Mac-Lean, a graduate of '08, was appointed to assist the physical director.

PROF. HOWARD LECTURES ON GOV. OF CITY

History of Montreal Traced from Its Inception

RAPID DEVELOPMENT

Weakness of First Commission and Reason of Failure Pointed Out

The fourth of the series of lectures on Government was delivered last night at Strathcona Hall. Prof. Howard, the speaker, handled the subject, the Government of the City, in an able and masterly way. The meeting was opened by Judge Greenshields by a short address, in which he hinted that something startling might be expected along with some amiable criticism.

Professor Howard began his address by reading from Section Four of the Charter of 1897, which defines the city as consisting of inhabitants and rate-payers united in a corporation. To explain the term corporation, the speaker spoke at some length, pointing out how the different corporations of companies and towns begin.

After these preliminary remarks,
Professor Howard proceeded to approach his subject by giving a summary of the city's history, and thus pointing out the development that has taken place in its system of government.

When Jacques Cartier discovered
the island of Montreal he found on it Hochelaga, a colony of about a thousand Indians, living in long huts, grouped together and surrounded by a triple fortification. However, when Champlain visited the place about fifty years later, he found no trace of this colony. Champlain founded a trading post, where the present Custom House now stands, and called it Porte Royale.

The next colonists were a band of missionaries, mostly priests and nuns, under Maisonneuve, who intended to make of Montreal, an outpost for Christianity. These colonists arrived in 1642, and the settlement they founded was permanent. Soon it became necessary to provide for the government of the new colony, which now numbered 250, and in 1663 the priests took over the administration.
The Parliament at Quebec, however, still held the reins of government, and continued to do so for some time, and although magistrates were later appointed they had no real municipal power, the government at Quebec was both provincial and municipal.

ENTRIES CLOSE TO-DAY FOR AQUATIC MEET

Polo Game Between Old McGill and Students' Team Will Be Good One

To-day is the last day on which entries will be accepted for the coming Aquatic Meet, and all prospective contestants must have their times handed in by six o'clock to-night. Owing to the fact that some men have not had their times taken, officials will be down at the tank for that purpose from 5 to 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Judging by the number of entries the success of the meet is already assured. In the open event the number is especially large, and the contest will, in all probability, be a good one—the fact that this race will decide the championship of Canada for the hundred yards will make it all the more keen. Both of the fifty-yard races, free style and breast, have large entry lists.

The graduates are entering a strong team for the water polo game, and the McGill team will have to put forth its best efforts in order to secure a victory from them. However, the game is sure to be one of the fastest and at the same time closest games ever witnessed at the Y.M.C.A.
At the meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, held last Saturday at Kingston, plans were made for intercollegiate aquatic events to take place next year, among which water polo was included. From the material now at McGill very strong hopes can be entertained that they will be able to carry off many honours.

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1919.

THE SHINING HOUR.

Lucky, indeed, is the student whose lectures during the day follow each other in close sequence without any odd hours between them; he may think himself overworked, but in reality he is being automatically prevented from wasting time.

Most men, when they come from a lecture at ten o'clock and recollect that they have not another until eleven, proceed to "kill time" for an hour, without bothering about preparation for the coming period of work. Theoretically, these "hours off" should be spent profitably in the library over a book, but in reality this case of things is the exception.

For one thing, if the work to be done is of any but the simplest kind, the student is apt to regard one hour as quite insufficient time to do more than get started upon it. The time that is consumed in going over to the library, removing hats, rubbers and overcoats, picking out the necessary books, and settling down at a table, eats into the sixty minutes to a surprising extent. Besides this, there are men who are unable to get down to their work unless they set their mind to the matter as to a sort of sacred function, and any excuse that permits of spending an hour otherwise than at study is cheerfully accepted. Men in this respect seem to be worse off than the women students, to judge by the difference apparent between the business-like fashion in which the latter leave the buildings at the end of a lecture period, and the loitering amble down the campus, which is customary in the case of the former.

For men, too, the temptation to go to the Union and indulge in an hour's game of billiards or pool is strong, and the sight of a number of his companions preparing to spend their time in this way, has many a time proved too much for a man without much will-power.

When the number of hours lost in this way by one student, in the course of a week, is added up the total is surprisingly high, and we leave it to our friends with mathematical brains to calculate exactly how much the student's efficiency suffers by it. After all, a remedy is hard to suggest, and all that can be done is to re-echo the old maxim about "improving the shining hour." We know enough of the psychology of the college man to realize just how much effect such maxims have.

Next came a period of trouble for the young colony. Wars with the Indians and the English colonists, and before long the wealth resulting from a thriving fur trade led to debauchery, all of which gave great trouble to the governing priests, who, however, made noble efforts, and in a large measure succeeded in maintaining an orderly government. Finally the colony was taken by the English in 1763.

Under the new regime magistrates were appointed, and an engineer was appointed to undertake the construction of public utilities. Soon a company was formed to provide a water supply, and water was led from the mountain to the reservoir, the second storey of the administration building. This reservoir served its purpose for some years, until it finally burst, after which the authorities came to the conclusion that the administration building was not the right place to keep a reservoir.

To illustrate the remarkable growth of the city, the speaker gave a few dates and statistics. In 1763, when the English occupied the town, the population was not more than 3,000. In 1800 it was 12,000; in 1850, 50,000; in 1867, 100,000; in 1900, 250,000; in 1915, 500,000, and now, according to the local census, the population is 670,000, or if Greater Montreal be taken, it is 730,000.

To describe the conditions of life in the colony a hundred years ago, Prof. Howard read a passage from Bourchette's description of Montreal, which was published in 1815. This described the town as most beautiful, with ordinary streets twelve feet wide, and he especially mentioned "the wonderful Notre Dame street, which is thirty feet wide." He further described the town as being built on soil as fertile as any in the world, covering 100 acres, or if the outlying settlements be included, 1,000 acres. Then, to illustrate further the amazing growth of our city, the speaker compared these figures with present day figures, stating that Montreal now covered 33,000 acres.

Further reading showed that in 1818 Montreal still had the palisades standing, and that the harbour, which has always been under government control, had no wharves or accommodation of any kind for ships, although steamboats were already in existence. All this time the government had been carried on from Quebec, but finally in 1832 a charter was issued to last for four years. Under this a council of twelve aldermen and a mayor was elected by the people. This charter, however, was not renewed, because of the rebellion and unrest of that period; but in 1840 a second charter was granted, by which the council and mayor was appointed from Quebec. The first mayor under this second charter was Peter McGill. In 1843 a new provision was made for Montreal's government. This time the nine wards elected aldermen, who, in turn elected a council of eleven members and a mayor. This was a step upwards and the system was soon again changed for the better, for after 1851 the mayor was elected by popular vote. Finally a consolidated charter was given during the years of 1897 and 1898, by which the governing body was composed of a mayor and forty-two aldermen, and this charter also gave the right to make annexations. Many amendments, however, have changed this charter, until at the present time there are only twenty aldermen.

R.V.C. UNDERGRADUATES NOMINATE OFFICERS

Two Offices Filled by Acclamation—Voting for President Friday

At a meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduate Society, held yesterday, at one o'clock, in the Common Room, the following nominations and elections for the coming session took place:

President of Undergraduate Society. Nominated—Grace Moody and Jean Nichol.

Vice-Pres. of Undergrad. Society—Janie Spier, elected by acclamation. Secretary of Undergrad. Society—Norah James, elected by acclamation.

The election for Undergrad. President will be held on Friday. The following were elected to act as scrutineers:

4th Year—M. Pickel, L. Macdonald.
3rd Year—I. Scott, F. MacKinnon.
2nd Year—H. Higginson, C. Harvey.
1st Year—L. Riley, M. Fry.

MUSIC NOTES

There will be a singer at the next Sunday afternoon musicale at His Majesty's. Throughout the series, pianists and other instrumentalists have been predominant. On this occasion, however, the human voice will have its opportunity for expression through the talent and personality of a very well liked baritone, Emilio de Gogorza.

appointed from Quebec. The first mayor under this second charter was Peter McGill. In 1843 a new provision was made for Montreal's government. This time the nine wards elected aldermen, who, in turn elected a council of eleven members and a mayor. This was a step upwards and the system was soon again changed for the better, for after 1851 the mayor was elected by popular vote. Finally a consolidated charter was given during the years of 1897 and 1898, by which the governing body was composed of a mayor and forty-two aldermen, and this charter also gave the right to make annexations. Many amendments, however, have changed this charter, until at the present time there are only twenty aldermen.

The franchise was then described as being given to any male of 21 years of age, and to several classes of women, and to corporations, and any voter is eligible for the offices of alderman or mayor.

Under the consolidated charter just mentioned the work of the various departments of health and protection was carried on by committees under a chairman, who, in fact, became an autocratic head of the department. Taxation was allowed on real estate to the extent of 1% of its assessed value, and on corporations, and licenses of all descriptions were authorized, and in addition the city was allowed to borrow as high as 15% of the value of taxable property. This last figure, the speaker said, is much too high. "It should not," he said, "be above 5%."

The system of autocratic rule that developed, and the resulting financial condition of the city, led the provincial legislature to make still another amendment to the constitution, and in 1909 a commission of five was elected to take part in the government. It was hoped that this commission would improve matters, but they made a great mistake at the outset by maintaining the old system of autocratic rule of the separate departments, thus no unity of action was secure and conditions were not improved. An attempt was soon made by the city attorney to break up this new system but it was a failure. The Provincial Legislature, at length, interfered and inaugurated a tremendous change. A board of administration was appointed, to have practically complete control over all city affairs. It consists of five members, including the city attorney, who is the chairman, the city controller, the city treasurer. The old commission is gone and the council of aldermen, over which the mayor presides, is practically powerless, and in the majority of cases need not even be consulted.

This form of government is a great step backwards, but the desperate condition of affairs demanded it and the work of the new commission has justified the decision. To show what good work they are doing, Professor Howard presented several charts, which illustrated the organization that they have made, and briefly described the conditions which they found existing on their taking office.

To conclude, he quoted the words of a distinguished European philosopher who described a great future in store for Montreal.

Judge Greenshields then, in his witty manner, commented on the speech just concluded. Dean Lee then moved a vote of thanks and announced the next lecture on our judicial system by the Judge himself on Monday next.

AT THE SHOW

THE IMPERIAL.

The picture being shown at the Imperial to-day and to-morrow is entitled "The Winning Girl," and features Shirley Mason assisted by Niles Welch.

"Jem" is the daughter of a pompous old officer, whose affection for her is limited because she is not a boy. The old man has fallen into financial difficulties, and it is her efforts in trying to get him out again which furnish the series of amusing incidents which hold the interest of the audience.

The little heroine is at last successful in bringing about an amicable condition of affairs in the household. The plot of the story is well laid, and includes among other thrilling incidents the catching of an international spy.

The comedy picture is a new print of Charlie Chaplin in "Police." Charlie, as Criminal No. 999, provokes peal after peal of laughter from the audience in his efforts to evade the wardens of the law.

The rest of the programme is made up by the 7th episode of "The Master Mystery," a Mutt and Jeff comedy and the British Official Gazette.

The musical concert was not below its usual high standard.

AERONAUTICAL SLANG

A few nights ago during a theatre intermission a group of aviators was swapping stories. One of the fliers, a chap apparently of not more than 20, who wore on his sleeve the markings of an instructor, told this story to the edification of his fellow-aviators and the mystification of the bystanders:

"One day a strapping big kiwee climbed into my bus, just when I wanted to take a jazz ride by myself. 'Have you taken out a $10,000 policy?' I asked sort of casually as I took my place in the front seat. The kiwee smiled a sickly kind of a smile, and I turned on the juice.

"We taxied off, and when the ship had reached the ceiling I turned off the engine and started spiraling down in easy stages. Suddenly the joystick refused to work and the bus commenced doing all kinds of stunts which I couldn't stop. Finally I looked over my shoulder, and what do you think had happened? The kiwee had grabbed hold of the other joystick and was holding on to it with grim terror written all over his face. I frantically motioned to him to release the stick. I guess he realized something was up, for he let go and I managed to flatten out. When we landed they had to take the kiwee away in hungry Liz, the ride had scared him so."

To the uninitiated the disregard of the young instructor-flier for the King's English was all the more amazing because he had the appearance of being well bred and well educated. They did not know that most of the slang words he had used were terms recognized by the Division of Military Aeronautics of the War Department. The nomenclature books of balloon and airplane branches might be taken for dictionaries of slang were there not technical aeronautical terms among them.

Aeronautical slang is more easily understood when one considers the nature and personnel of the air service. Both in the United States and Canada the men who responded to the call for aviators were predominantly college students or men recently out of college.

What the instructor-flier meant when he told of taking a kiwee for a ride was that he had a ground or non-flying officer with him on the trip. The application of this term to the ground officer was the result of an evident belief on the part of the cadet who first used it that the kiwee, a worthy member of the bird family, was a non-flier. Bird lovers and naturalists who wrote to Texas newspapers in defence of the kiwee showed that quite the contrary was true. Nevertheless the nickname stuck.

An airplane was rarely called by its rightful name; it was usually a boat, ship, bus or taxi. The wings of an airplane were frequently referred to as the "decks." When a flier spoke of the "ceiling," he meant the maximum altitude attainable by his ship. A "jazz ride," in automobile parlance, is a joy-ride.

Some of the terms at the flying fields had elastic meanings. An example was the term "crash." A layman would suppose an airplane which had met with a "crash" was fit only for the junk heap. But such was not always the case. Any bad landing, in which the plane was damaged the least bit, was a "crash." It included everything from a slight breakage to complete destruction.

"To pancake" was to land flat like a pancake. It resulted from levelling the ship too far above ground. "To zoom" was to climb at an extreme angle for a short distance and resume a level course before the machine stalled. When an airplane was driven along the ground to gain sufficient speed before going up, it was spoken of as "taxi-ing." "Turning off the juice" meant shutting off the engine. A flier who presumed to call the control lever of an airplane by any other terms than joystick or stick would soon be corrected by his fellows. —New York Herald.

CONSTITUTION OF MCGILL UNION

The following is the amended Constitution of the McGill Union, which has been posted in the Union. For the sake of convenience, amendments have been printed in bold type. Members of the Union are urged to save copies of this for use at the annual meeting of the Union.

1-INTERPRETATION.

(1) The expression "student of the University" means a student registered as a graduate student, undergraduate, conditioned student or partial student.

(2) The expression "member of the University" means a Governor, Principal, Fellow, Officer of Instruction (past or present), graduate of the University, Librarian, Bursar, Registrar or member of the administrative staff whose status is recognized in the University Calendar.

(3) The expression "former student" means any person who, having been an undergraduate for at least one year, has left in good standing. The above interpretations shall prevail throughout this Constitution.

2-NAME.

The name shall be The McGill Union.

3-OBJECTS.

The object of the Union shall be to serve as a social centre for all students and members of the University, as a place of wholesome amusement and recreation, and as the headquarters of the various societies and clubs connected with the University.

4-MEMBERSHIP.

Those eligible for membership shall be:

(1) Active Members.—These shall be all men students of the University who have paid the Universal Fee for the current session.

(2) Associate Members.—These shall be members of the University, or of any College affiliated thereto, and former students who reside within a radius of ten miles from Montreal.

(3) Associate Non-Resident Members.—These shall be members of the University and former students who reside outside a radius of ten miles from Montreal.

(4) Life Members.—Any person qualified to be a member may become a life member by payment of the composition fee provided for by Article 13.

(5) "Foundation Members."—Members of the University who, before the Union was formally opened, subscribed sums of $100 or upwards to the funds of the Union previous to erection, and who have paid this subscription, shall be known as Foundation Members, and shall have all the privileges of Life Members.

(6) Honorary Members.—These shall be men of distinction who may be elected at a General Meeting of the Union or by the House Committee, the nomination having been previously approved by the Advisory Board.

(7) Privileged Members.—Members of other Universities not resident in Montreal, and students of Universities not located in Montreal, may be introduced for a period of not more than two weeks by any member in good standing. The name of such privileged person shall be entered, together with the name of his proposer, in a book provided for that purpose. The proposer of such member shall be held responsible for his conduct and any indebtedness he may incur to the Union. The introduction may be renewed on application to the Secretary for a further period of two weeks, on payment of a fee of one dollar for each such period.

(8) Ladies are not eligible for membership, but may be admitted to the Union from time to time under regulations to be framed by the House Committee.

5-ADMISSION OF MEMBERS.

Any person qualified to be an active member, an associate resident member, or an associate non-resident member, shall be admitted to membership on payment of the dues hereinafter provided. Associate resident members and associate non-resident members shall apply to the Secretary in writing.

Any person not eligible for membership may be introduced in company with any member of good standing. Any person eligible for membership may be introduced not oftener than once a month.

6-GUESTS.

The Officers of the Union shall be: Honorary President, President, Vice-President, Treasurer and Secretary. The President, Vice-President and the Secretary shall be active members, and shall not be eligible for re-election. No person shall be eligible to fill the office of President who has not been an active member for two years. The Honorary President, President, Vice-President and Secretary shall be elected by the active, life and foundation members as hereinafter provided. The Treasurer shall be appointed by the Advisory Board from their number, and shall be eligible for re-appointment.

8-DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

(1) The President shall take the chair at all meetings of the Union. He shall be ex-officio a member of the Advisory Board and of all committees. He shall be ex-officio chairman of the House Committee, and shall, in the absence of directions from the House Committee, have authority over the steward and servants and the general control of the Union premises. He shall report once a month to the Finance Committee, his report having been previously submitted to and approved by the House Committee.

(2) The Vice-President shall assume the duties of the President in the absence of the latter.

(3) The Treasurer shall be the depository of all moneys, countersign all cheques, and shall have direct access to the books of all departments at such times as he desires. He shall have general supervision over all books of accounts. He shall have the power to obtain such assistance from the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer as he may require.

(4) The Secretary shall keep minutes of all meetings, except those of the Advisory Board; shall receive subscriptions for membership, and shall also have charge, subject to the Treasurer, of the general books of account of the Union. He shall report once a month to the Finance Committee. He shall sign all cheques and shall have the power to obtain such assistance from the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer as he may require.

(5) An Assistant Secretary-Treasurer may be appointed by the Finance Committee to do such work as the Committee shall allot to him. He shall also give such assistance to the Treasurer and Secretary as they may require.

9-STEWARD.

There shall be a Steward appointed by the Finance Committee. He shall have charge under the House Committee of the catering department.

10-STANDING COMMITTEES.

The Standing Committees of the Union shall be:

(1) The Finance Committee.—This shall consist of the President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and in addition one member from the Advisory Board not being the Treasurer. The employees of the house shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of this Committee. The Finance Committee shall once a month receive reports from the President and Secretary which it may amend, and shall homologate the same and embody them in a report to the Advisory Board. The Finance Committee shall also submit to the Advisory Board an Annual Estimate of Expenditure.

(2) The House Committee.—This shall consist of the President, who shall act as chairman; the Vice-President, and seven active members, one from the Faculty of Law, two from the Faculty of Medicine, two from the Faculty of Arts, and two from the Faculty of Applied Science. The House Committee shall have general control of the building, including the catering department, and of the steward and servants. The House Committee shall act on its own resolution, except in matters involving expenditure, any question as to which must either be:

(a) embodied in the monthly report of the President to the Finance Committee and adopted by it and not disapproved of by the Advisory Board, or

(b) notified to the Chairman of the Advisory Board or other member appointed by it for such purpose, and consented to by him.

The House Committee may appoint sub-committees to co-operate with the President in the control of any departments. At least one member of each of the sub-committees shall be a member of the House Committee and shall act as Chairman and shall report to the Chairman of the House Committee at its meetings.

11-ACCOUNTS.

(1) The general books of accounts shall be in charge of the Finance Committee, and shall be kept by the Secretary under the direction of the Treasurer.

(2) The Secretary shall enter monthly in the general books of account the accounts rendered in the reports of the Secretary, and of the President to the Finance Committee.

(3) The reports involving accounts shall be accompanied by vouchers.

(4) The accounts shall be audited every month by the Auditors to the University.

12-ADVISORY BOARD.

(1) In addition to these Standing Committees of the Union, there shall be an Advisory Board of seven members, five of whom shall be appointed by the Governors of the University, one appointed by these five, and the President of the Union. All these members, except the President of the Union, must be members of the University or former students of the University.

(2) The Advisory Board shall elect the Treasurer and one other of its members to the Finance Committee.

(3) Two members of the Advisory Board, taken by lot, shall retire on the expiration of one year from appointment; two shall retire in the same manner on the expiration of two years, and two on the expiration of three years. Members appointed thereafter shall hold office for three years.

(4) Vacancies so occurring and any vacancy caused prematurely shall be filled by the appointment of the Board of Governors. Members retiring shall be eligible for re-appointment.

(a) The Advisory Board shall represent the University in relationship to the affairs of the Union, shall act in an advisory capacity and shall also act as a Court of Appeal from the Standing Committees.

(b) No resolution of the Standing Committees involving expenditure or entertainments open to non-members of the Union shall come into force until referred to and approved by the Chairman of the Advisory Board or other member appointed by it for such purpose.

(c) The Advisory Board shall, whenever practicable, act through the Standing Committees or Officers of the Union.

(d) The Advisory Board may, on its own initiative, consider any resolution of any Committee, and may disallow the same or refer it to the Committee from which it emanated for further consideration.

13-DUES.

All subscriptions shall be due and paid on or before the 1st of October in each year. On or after the 15th of October in each year the names of all members whose annual subscriptions have not been renewed shall be posted in the Union. Any member whose name has been then posted shall be debared from all the privileges of the Union until the subscription has been paid. Subscriptions shall be as follows:

(1) For Active Members, $3.00 per annum, as provided for in the Universal Fee.

(2) For Associate Resident Members, $3.00 per annum.

(3) For Associate Non-Resident Members, $2.00 per annum.

(4) Life Members.—Any member or person eligible for membership may at any time compound for all further annual dues by paying fifty dollars or such sum as shall together with the amount already paid as consecutive annual dues make up the sum of fifty dollars. All moneys subscribed towards Life Membership shall be devoted to the permanent Endowment Fund of the Union.

Any person eligible for membership in the Union, who, before it is formally opened, has subscribed $50.00 or upwards, shall, on payment of this subscription, be held to have fulfilled the requirements of this sub-section.

14-NOMINATIONS AND ELECTIONS.

(1) The annual election of President, Vice-President and Secretary shall be held between the first day of March and the third Wednesday of March, by a ballot of all the Active, Life and Foundation Members.

(2) They shall be nominated by any twenty-five (25) Active Members. Nominations shall be in writing, and shall be deposited with the Secretary not later than 6 p.m. on the tenth day preceding the day of election. The names of all candidates shall be posted by him at least one week before the day of elections. The Honorary President shall be elected by the incoming House Committee.

(3) These newly-elected shall assume their duties on the first day of July following their election, and shall hold office for one year. In the event of the resignation or vacancy caused by any other reason in any of the above offices, the House Committee shall decide on the date of the election of a successor, the procedure being the same as in the case of the regular election. "The successor so appointed shall hold office until the following first day of July."

(4) The active members of the several faculties shall elect their own representatives on the House Committee by ballot on the Second Thursday in October. The nominations in each case shall be handed in by the Tuesday preceding, and shall be signed by ten active members from the respective faculties.

(5) The election shall be by ballot. The ballots shall be printed and supplied through the Secretary, who shall arrange for the conduct of the election. The polls shall be open for receiving ballots between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the day of the election.

(6) The President shall appoint two scrutineers to assist the Secretary in counting the ballots.

15-MEETINGS.

The Annual Meeting of the Union shall be held within ten days following the third Wednesday in March. Fifty Active Members shall form a quorum for the transaction of business. At the Annual Meeting the Secretary shall present his report for the year.

16-SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Special meetings of the Union shall be called by the President.

(1) When petitioned to do so in writing by twenty-five active members.

(2) When required to do so by the Finance Committee or the Advisory Board.

At such meetings fifty Active Members shall form a quorum.

17-AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION.

(1) The Constitution may be amended by resolution passed by a majority of two-thirds of the members present, and voting at the Annual General Meeting or at a Special Meeting called for the purpose, and of which one month's notice shall have been given by posting a notice setting out the proposed amendment on the notice board of the Union, but such amendment shall not come into force until sanctioned by the Advisory Board.

(2) All members of the Union shall be entitled to vote on business other than the election of officers or changes in the Constitution. On these questions only Active, Life and Foundation Members may vote.

18-PENALTIES.

Any member may be censured, reprimanded or suspended from the Union when, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the House and Finance Committees present in joint session, at a meeting specially called for the purpose, his conduct merits such action.

For expulsion, a majority of three-fourths of the members of these two committees present at such a meeting shall be required.

No member shall be expelled without the opportunity of appearing in person before a joint meeting of these two committees. The member shall have, at least, ten days' notice of the charge against him, and of the place, date and hour of the meeting, and may be heard in his own defence.

HOUSE RULES.

Only members of the Union shall have access to the Halls of the Union, except that persons not qualified for membership, when accompanied by members, may have the privilege of the building.

(This shall not apply to any room or rooms which may have been granted to any society, while in use for the meeting of such society.)

Persons qualified for membership may visit only once a month, but may attend subscription dances, concerts, etc., held in the building.

The building shall be open during the College Year on week days and on Sundays from 7.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The billiard room will open at 10 a.m. every morning except Sunday. No game of billiards shall be begun after 10.00 p.m.

All damage to periodicals, furniture or other property shall be paid for by the person causing it, and may be considered cause for suspension or expulsion from the Union.

No profane or objectionable language shall be used in the building.

No betting or gambling shall be permitted in the building.

"If high rates of interest must still be paid on Canadian Government borrowings, ALL the people should have the opportunity to earn this interest."
—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

Why They Are Buying WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

The housewife is economizing in comfortable ways and investing in War-Savings Stamps at $4.02 each this month. In 1924, when these stamps are redeemed at $5.00 each, every dollar will have greater purchasing power.

The business man is cutting off small and unnecessary expenditures and buying War-Savings Stamps. He knows his money is available any time he really needs it, with added interest. $5 for $4 in five years is an excellent return on money otherwise idle.

School children are buying Thrift Stamps at 25 cents each and are filling their Thrift Cards in order to acquire a War-Savings Stamp. They are helping their country and acquiring the habit of Thrift.

Men on the farms are buying W.S.S. because the Government uses the money to finance export orders for the food raised on Canadian farms. This makes their market sure.

Men, women and children of all ages and conditions of life, are investing in W.S.S. because it is a convenient way to "build a bond". The security is absolute and the interest is unusually high. Some day they will look back with great satisfaction to the day when they bought their first War-Savings Stamps.

That's when you can judge clothes;
often within a month

You have met the "flash" friend—all smiles and alluring in outward form—who turns out to be a hollow sham on close acquaintance. So it is with other things. After three months' wear, after years of acquaintance with Semi-ready Tailoring, you will like it better and better. It's the inside as well as the outside you must judge by, and now that cloth and clothes cost more money, it pays to be particular.

Give $30 for a good suit, and be safe.

SUMMER CONFERENCE DISCUSSED BY Y.W.C.A.

Delegates for Couchiching to Be Selected by Y.W. on Wednesday

We have been very successful in attaining the object of our desire—that is, in getting quite considerable funds with which the Y.W.C.A. is to send delegates to the Couchiching Summer Conference. The exact amount of the proceeds of the Thé Dansant will be published later. On Wednesday afternoon, at three-thirty o'clock, in the Common Room, there is to be held the last regular meeting of the Y.W.C.A. The subject of the meeting is "Couchiching," and there you will hear all there is to know about the Conference. Miss Doris Dart will discuss her impression of the Conference in general, and she will give some details as to the arrangements regarding expenses, ways and means, and reasons why. Miss Helen Nichol will tell about the morning classes and what they meant to her, and the part they play in the Couchiching Day. Miss Hazel Davidson will talk about the sports and playtime, which fills a large part of the ten days at camp. By the time the afternoon is over you will be able to judge if this song is typical of the good time that all Couchichingites have:

C-o-u-c-h-i-c-h-i-n-g!
That used to sound so good to me,
I thought I'd come and see!
And now I have decided, it's just the place for me—

C-o-u-c-h-i-c-h-i-n-g!
Be sure to come to the meeting; it may mean the decision that you will be one of the delegates this year; and all who know will tell you that no greater opportunity could ever come to any girl than this good time of ten days mingling in social fellowship with the groups of girls representing the colleges of middle Canada. For example: Queen's, Varsity, MacMaster, St. Hilda's, Victoria and McGill.

You will find the jokes are new, the plot is new, and the committee in charge has endeavored to make the whole show as original as humanly possible.

Tobin, as usual, will render a few songs in his inimitable manner, and in his speech he has surpassed himself. Say, don't miss this show—it's to be good and humorous—it's a laugh from start to finish.

Great care and expense have been taken to make the programme a work of art and a joy for ever. Men who keep the programmes will often look back to this day as the day on which they laughed as they never laughed before. And, alas, as they will never laugh again.

If any man is unable to get a ticket, don't stay away. Present your fifty cents at the door to-night, at nine o'clock, at the Union, and you will be admitted to the tickling tragedy. Tomorrow will be too late!

He who hesitates is lost. We want to see the Hall at the Union packed, and we believe that every man who comes will be more than satisfied.

CONSTITUTION OF MCGILL MEN

No meeting shall be held without the consent of the House Committee, and applications for the use of rooms shall be made to the Secretary.

No alcoholic liquors shall be used or served in the building, and no intoxicated person shall be admitted.

Members shall have the privilege of having their mail addressed in care of the Union.

All members in good standing shall be furnished with membership cards.

Members shall be required to show their membership cards when requested to do so.

Any transfer of a member's card shall be sufficient cause for expulsion.

Members are requested not to give gratuities to attendants; those offending are liable to suspension.

Many graduates have bought tickets, and those students who wish to attend will have to purchase their tickets soon, as the supply is strictly limited. These may be obtained from the following representatives: Science, S. S. Pitt; Arts, G. M. Webster; Medicine, G. G. Miller; R.V.C., Miss F. Basnar. As the meet is to be held at the "Y" tank it is to be hoped that many of the R.V.C. students will be present, and by their presence show that they are interested in this branch of university athletics.

PRESIDENT OF THE DELTA SIGMA SOCIETY.

MISS ELIZABETH MONK.

Campus Leaders.

Elizabeth Monk first put in her appearance on this globe in 1898, and from then until the time she entered McGill University pursued a checkered career culminating in the receipt of a silver medal for having achieved the first place among the girls of the Montreal High School. This important event occurred in 1915, and two years later our little Elizabeth once more stood resplendent before the public gaze, the proud (at least she should have been proud even if she was not) possessor of the Annie Mackintosh prize. A second year exhibition as well as a third year scholarship fell her way, and great, indeed, is the interest and enthusiasm which she exhibits in connection with her course—Honours in French and German. But Elizabeth is no mere blue-stocking. Other things besides lectures have a prominent place on her horizon, and amongst these the Delta Sigma holds the premier position. Ever since her second year she has held an executive position, and is now president, while many are the times she has moved the members of the society to sobs or smiles, as the case might be, in public and impromptu speaking contests, to say nothing of debates. The object of all this erudition is further work in the graduate line, and, ultimately, Law. Elizabeth's favourite colour is yellow with red stripes, and her pet abomination French novels in German.

ANOTHER OPENING FOR WOMEN WORKERS

The work of the school is carried on in the University, and in the following buildings, by the courtesy of the authorities of the institutions concerned:

1. Royal Victoria College—Administrative headquarters, and lectures (afternoon).

2. M.A.A.A.—Practical work and lectures (morning); students are associate members of M.A.A.A., and have all the privileges of membership except where these are limited by the regulations of the school.

3. Montreal General Hospital—Clinical work and demonstrations. The fees of the school have gradually increased from $25 for the short course in 1912 to $150 for the present full session.

While the entrance requirements of the school do not necessitate a previous Arts course, it would undoubtedly be of great advantage to have a well-trained and co-ordinated mind before undertaking it. For this reason, Wellesley College, for instance, admits only graduates in Arts to its course in the Department of Physical Education, known as the Department of Hygiene. Both Miss Oughtred, '12, and Miss Chauvin, '14, are graduates of the R.V.C. The former, after completing the course in physical education, taught in a public school for two years, and since then has been connected with the school. Miss Chauvin took the summer course at Sargent's (Harvard), and is now taking the double course at McGill. She is planning to return to the West as physical director in a large girls' school. At present many desiring the course in physical education are going to the States to procure it, as there a two-year course is available. A tremendous boom has been given to the work by the fact that so many men, after examination, were found unfit. Many now advocate physical training of children in schools, girls in shops, etc. It is evident that this branch of work is of great importance and the rapid growth of the school since its foundation prophesies that it will soon need larger quarters. It would be a splendid achievement if McGill were the first university in Canada to equip a college of physical education, that would compare favorably with similar training centres elsewhere.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE TO GIVE FRENCH PLAY

Comedy by Labiche to Be Presented Next Saturday at R.V.C.

One of the "Great Events" of the season takes place at three o'clock, in the R.V.C., on Saturday afternoon, when the Societe Francaise present the comedy of Labiche, entitled "Les Deux Timides." This is the eagerly expected French play which is yearly given in aid of some worthy French cause. Admission is only twenty-five cents, and the proceeds are for books for the French Hospital Commission.

It is whispered that the play promises to be an even greater success than ever this year, and a large audience is expected. All students of McGill and their friends are welcome, and it is hoped that the "Cercle" will turn out in large numbers to support the efforts of their sister society and also to swell the funds for a worthy cause. Remember the day—Saturday; and the hour—3.00 p.m. sharp; and the place—Common Room, R.V.C.

NOTICES

Important Swimmers!

There will be an important meeting of the Swimming Club to-morrow (Wednesday), at 5.00 o'clock, in the Union, and all active members are requested to be present. Matters of importance pertaining to the Intercollegiate swimming meet next year will be discussed, and a large attendance is desired.

The following men, especially, are requested to be present: Pitt, Patten, Fisk, Elder, Miller, Laishley, Shotwell, Webster, Notman, Lyall.
